The De'Longhi KG79
has been around a while,
and that's reflected in its basic, rather boxy looks.
The body is made of plastic, and some are very popular in kitchens these days

because they give coffee lovers an excuse to get out of bed in the morning □ they produce
fine coffee powder
straight from the coffee beans themselves to use in coffee machines that at the end of the operation produce great tasting coffee.

Service decided to buy the De Longhi KG79. Some reviewers say it doesn't grind coffee fine enough for espresso, however I find the result on the minimum setting is a fine powder which works well in my espresso machine. It's at least as fine as ready ground espresso coffee and the powder clumps together as it should if
