During the 2017-18 school year, MacDonald obtained a copy of a previous English 12 Provincial Exam when she met with a student to review their exam. According to the Commissioner, the exams had been previously given but were designated as "secure" and were not "released to use as study or practice aids."

This book examines the relationships between foreign language learning beliefs and learning preferences of two English language learners and the beliefs and teaching practices of two Native English-speaking teachers in the EFL context. In such an environment, the learners were not satisfied with learning English in their public school; they paid a great deal of money to attend a private school and had many expectations regarding the course and the teachers. On the other hand, the teachers had to satisfy their students without any personal experience in learning English as a foreign language. Practically, the book will help private schools and other similar contexts to enhance their competitiveness in the market and serve their learners better. In addition, the book will also help EFL teachers to raise their awareness of the nature and effects of the relationship between teachers' and students' beliefs. Theoretically, this book contributes to the current literature on this subject by relating not only learners' beliefs and preferences, but also teachers' beliefs with their on-going practices.

In Canada today there is a clear move toward a more outcomes-based education system. This report examines the state of high school student assessment and reviews standards and accountability strategies. It reports on the policies, programs, and initiatives in all provincial ministries or departments of education and a sample of school boards across the country. Data were derived from a telephone survey of departmental/ministerial representatives from all 10 provinces and the 2 territories and from a questionnaire that was mailed to 279 school boards. A total of 140 boards responded, a 50 percent response rate. Data show that both boards and ministries are putting more emphasis on the development of comprehensive policies to cover all aspects of student evaluation. There is some movement away from relying on paper-and-pencil testing as the sole means of evaluation; the use of more authentic, performance-based approaches and a greater variety of assessment techniques are being promoted. Some of the best practices in high school evaluation involve use of a broad range of assessment methods; introduction of or improvements to provincial examinations; greater use of summative and formative evaluations; greater emphasis on modifying evaluation for special-needs students; use of performance-based assessment; and more reporting to parents and the public. Thirteen tables are included. Appendices contain copies of the two questionnaires and selected school board material. (Contains 19 references.) (LMI)

An all-Canadian ESL resource Learning English can be fun when you add a dash of Canadian culture and a pinch of extracurricular activity. The intermediate workbook, together with the teacher's handbook, is intended to follow Writing Canadian English—A Beginning, and combines English grammar and vocabulary with lessons in living in Canada, from day-to-day tasks to larger topics such as the law, citizenship, and government. There are 20 units covering the fundamentals of English. Each unit is divided into grammar, oral practice, written exercises, reading, and responses. The teacher can use the units in any desired sequence, which is a valuable feature for those teaching a modular, self-directed, or individualized learning program. These practical materials are suitable for teacher and student use in junior and senior high schools, as well as for adult education.
