Continuing the four goals from the first edition, i.e. helping students to make good financial decisions, providing a solid text for the introductory MBA course, motivating students by demonstrating finance is relevant and interesting, and presenting the material clearly, this Tenth Edition promises to be the best yet. Written by a highly-acclaimed, best selling, author team, this text remains the only MBA-level text to present a balance of financial theory and applications.

The first course in finance for finance and business majors has traditionally focused solely on managerial (or corporate) finance. Now, many schools are indicating a need to introduce these students -- particularly the non-finance business majors -- to the other two major components of finance -- institutions and investments -- in this first course but at the same level of rigot as traditional financial management texts. The Dryden Press has answered this call with Principles of Finance. This text begins with a discussion of the principles of financial systems and business organizations, moves on to valuation concepts, and then corporate decision making (managerial finance). It concludes with coverage of investment fundamentals. Key chapters may be covered in a one-term course or supplemented with cases and outside readings for a two-term course. Chapters are written in a flexible, modular format, allowing instructors to cover the material in a different sequence if desired.
