RACE | meaning in the Cambridge English Dictionary

A race is a grouping of humans based on shared physical or social qualities into categories generally viewed as distinct by society. The term was first used to refer to speakers of a common language and then to denote national affiliations. By the 17th century the term began to refer to physical (phenotypical) traits. Modern science regards race as a social construct, an identity which is ...

The space race was part of the Cold War (1947-89). The development of long-range ballistic missiles by the main protagonists—the Soviet Union and the United States of America—enabled the space race. However, it was actually a global scientific research programme that both sides used to signal their intention of launching into space.
